

Facilitative Leader Series

A leadership development webinar series for USA Girl Scouts Overseas volunteers

An opportunity to...

- Learn about your leadership style and strengths
- Connect and converse with peers around the world
- Share your own best practices around leading teams
- Discuss leadership topics such as:
  - Emotional intelligence
  - Leading/influencing without authority
  - Coaching in a way that shows caring without caretaking
  - Helping people with change
  - Having hard conversations

Do you know how geese handle the responsibility of leading the flight formation....

....it's shared. When one gets tired, they peel off and move to the back and someone else takes their place!

Components

- Monthly, one hour webinars each with breakout discussion time with peers

“Leaders who live in the new story help us understand ourselves differently by the way they lead. They trust our humanness; they welcome the surprises we bring to them; they are curious about our differences; they delight in our inventiveness; they nurture us; they connect us. They trust that we can create wisely and well, that we seek the best interests of our organization and our community, that we want to bring more good into the world.” Meg Wheatley
